TRAINING

Get valuable skill training. Choose from over 250 skills. Many of these skills may be used after Army service. If you qualify and there's an opening, you're guaranteed under the Army's Delayed Entry Program that the training you want will be reserved for you up to 365 days.

ADVENTURE

See more of the world. Pick an assignment option in this country, including Alaska and Hawaii, or in Europe, Korea or Panama. If a spot is available and you qualify, you'll be where you want to be. Regardless of your chosen specialty, the Army also offers some of the most exciting and challenging adventure training in the world, including Airborne and Ranger. You could qualify.

EDUCATION

Money for school. With the Montgomery G.I. Bill Plus the Army College Fund, you can earn as much as $25,200 for college or approved vocational/technical schooling after your Army service. Your length of enlistment and specific specialty determine the exact amount. Also, if you have the time, you may take college, vocational, or technical courses during non-duty hours. The Army may pay up to 75 percent tuition for approved studies.

MONEY

Earn over $640 a month to start. With promotions and pay raises, you can soon be earning even more. And money goes pretty far in the Army, since you get room and board as well as medical and dental care. You also earn 30 days of vacation with pay every year.

Don't Delay. Take the first step toward your future. Complete the attached card and see how you can get an edge on your future today.

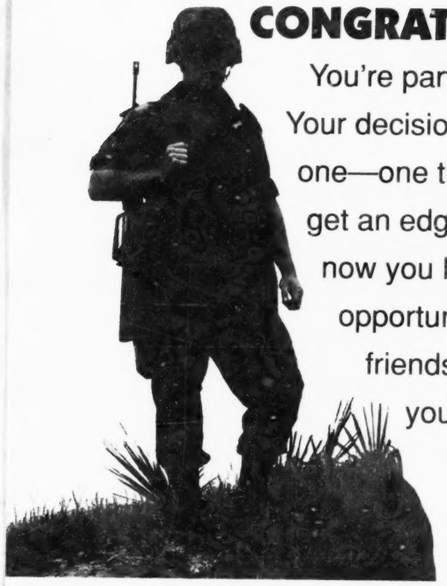
Delayed Entry Referral Program



CONGRATULATIONS

You're part of the team. Your decision was a wise one—one that will help you get an edge on life. And now you have the opportunity to help your friends while you help yourself and your recruiter as well. How? Through the Army's Delayed Entry Referral Program.

HERE'S HOW

Many of your friends may be unsure of how they are going to meet their goals, their needs, and follow through on their interests. But you can assist. Just have your friends read and answer the questions within this brochure. Then return this information to your Army Recruiter. This will be the first step in helping your recruiter give your friends a chance to be all they can be. Remember, by helping your friends, you are also helping yourself through the DEP Referral Incentive Program, which rewards you for referring high quality young men and women to your recruiter. Ask your recruiter for details.

THE FUTURE BEGINS

1. How important is training to you, either now or in the future?

2. What does money mean to you?

3. What is your idea of adventure?

4. How important is continuing your education, either now or in the future?

5. What does serving your country mean to you?
